MRS. NATION ON THE RAMPAGE. Mrs. Nation was heard from again yesterday afternoon, It was "Editors Day" at the manufacturers' exhibition of goods made in Kansas City, which has been in progress for a week at Convention Hall in that city. Some 200 editors of country papers all over that section were the guests of the management and among them Mrs. Nation, as "editress of the 'Smashers' Mail.' "Mrs. Nation has not been drawing very well of late. She debated the temperance question with Carl Brown of well of late. She debated the temperance question with Carl Brown, of Coxey army fame, at a local hall Sunday night, and there was but $30, all told, in the house. Perhaps that explains Monday's outbreak. There is an art gallery in one division of the exposition. Mrs. Nation visited it. She had a hatchet in her hand, borne as a cert of "ad" for her paper. About She had a hatchet in her hand, borne as a sort of "ad" for her paper. About the first work of art she espied was an Apollo statue. With uplifed hatchet and a whoop, Mrs. Nation made a dash for Apollo, but the bystanders saved the marble god. The next minute Mrs. Nation caught gight of a defenceless the marble god. The next minute Mrs. Nation caught sight of a defenceless water color picture of "Pysche." I took two policemen to get the smasher away from this. They arrested her, but recalling the unpleasant experiences of a few weeks ago, did not take her to the station. Directly she was released the indefatigable old woman mounted a platform and addressed a mounted a platform and addressed a crowd of several thousand people on morality and temperance.
